

PLAN OCEAN TO OCEAN HIGHWAY

Hobby's Military Road, Florida to California, Receiving Endorsement.

Austin, Texas, July 22.—Endorsement by governor Hobby of a proposition to have the federal government construct a military highway from Florida to California, is being received by the governor from governor Catts, of Florida. The Florida chief executive explained in his letter that the plan was to get the cooperation of the states along the route, and then present the matter to the federal government.

The highway, which would be the longest in the country, would take in the old Spanish trail or king's highway, passing through Florida to California, traversing Alabama, Florida, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California, a distance of possibly 3,000 or 4,000 miles.

In the event the governor endorses the plan, he is expected to appoint a committee to meet with like committees from the different states mentioned, and hold a meeting within the near future in Washington, when the plan could be formulated in concrete form and submitted for the consideration of the government.

In discussing the proposition, Gov. A. Duren, state highway engineer, believed the plan feasible and would mean much for the country. The project, however, would mean an expenditure of about $25,000,000.

Parents Appeal To State To Settle Child's Name

Toledo, O., July 22.—There's trouble in a household in the village of Sylvan, not far from here.

A child was born to this family recently. The husband was absent in the home when the child was born.

The mother wanted the child to have the name of the husband and she tried to carry another through life. The father won.

Now, the mother has appealed to the state department of vital statistics, asking that the child's name be changed so as to conform to her wishes.

State officials have failed to unearth any law authorizing such action.

Women of Motor Corps Deliver U. S. Ambulances

Detroit, Mich., July 22.—Fourteen girls, members of the Detroit chapter, Red Cross Women's Motor Corps, left Detroit recently for Pittsburgh driving seven army ambulances that are to be shipped overseas from Detroit to the Atlantic seaboard. At Pittsburgh 14 girls of the Pittsburgh chapter continue the journey with the machines to Philadelphia.

The purpose of the drive was to demonstrate that women are efficient in this line of duty as men.

Sergeant Has Own Ideas Of Discipline

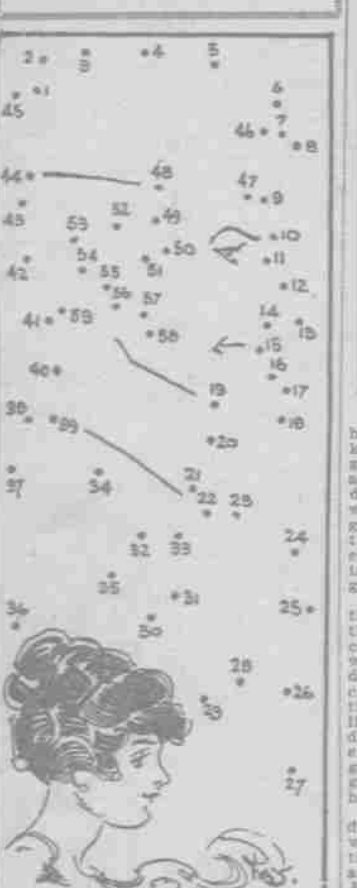

Marietta, O., July 22.—A select from here, writing home, tells of a real democrat in the uniform of a sergeant who has charge of an awkward squad at Camp Sherman.

"This bird is a sandy," says the writer. "He told me that if any one was offended at the way he spoke all they had to do was to invite him behind one of the buildings after drill and it would be all right."

"And he may be taken up on it," the writer concluded.

LIGHTLESS RULE ON WEDNESDAY

Thursday Night Also; Extra Electric Lights Off, Says Wyatt.

Excepting necessary street lighting all outside lights in the business district will be turned off two nights each week in this city beginning Wednesday, and the electric sign and electrically lighted billboard will probably be done away with entirely during the winter months, according to a statement Saturday afternoon by John M. Wyatt, local member of the fuel advisory board of Texas.

Mr. Wyatt said he had received advance information from the federal fuel administration, announcing that the "lightless nights" would be instituted again this winter, and the information received also announced that the large electric signs probably would be done away with every night during the winter. It is also suggested that all country clubs and like places of amusement be closed during the winter months, this is not to affect moving picture houses, however.

Intended to Save Fuel.

This action is in accordance with the plan adopted last winter to save fuel. The "lightless nights" in El Paso will probably be Wednesday's and Thursday's. The order directing that the lightless regulation be put into effect had not been received by Mr. Wyatt, but he said he expected a telegram to reach him soon ordering the regulation put into effect.

May Fuel Ice Plants.

It has also been suggested that where possible ice and refrigerating plants be pooled during the winter. This plan is not to put any ice or refrigerating plant out of business, but is intended to pool their interests in such a way that the fuel used for one place would supply power for both institutions. It is not known yet how this is to be worked out, but some plan will probably be found whereby two ice and refrigerating plants may do the work this winter usually expected of three such plants.

Beauty Chats

Neck And Soldiers.

COMPARATIVELY few people pay any attention to the neck. I know of an expensive beauty specialist who charges $5 for a face treatment, but she doesn't extend her treatment below the chin. I also know of women who wash their faces religiously, but never wash the neck until it seems to need it. And I actually had a girl write me once, and ask whether the neck should be washed every day or only when it felt dirty.

Yet the neck shows age, sometimes sooner than the face. And no matter

Do You Keep Your Neck Young?

How young and pretty a woman may keep her face. If she lets her neck get old, she'll never hide her real age. More than this, the neck has dirt rubbed into it, coat collars, fur, waist collars, all collect dirt and gently friction it into the skin, so that yellow necks are not uncommon even on the clearest of persons. It takes more than soap and water to get out the grime.

When you wash your face, wash the neck too, and when you massage the face with cold cream, always include the neck in the treatment. You will be surprised at the amount of dirt you can get out of an apparently clean skin. Rub the cream well into the pores, and up as far as the hair line, for here the greatest amount of dirt collects. And if you are old enough to have wrinkles already, the cream gets into each wrinkle, for blackheads collect fat.

Never wear stiff collars or dark or dyed material against the neck, only white should touch it. This is particularly important now, when dyes are not so "fast" as they used to be. And when you have finished your nightly massage with cream, rub the neck with clean fingers and make the flesh look firm and fresh and young.

Questions and Answers.

"Interested Reader"—You send an old tonic, something to feed the scalp, and to overcome the dry dandruff. If you'll send me a letter with a self-addressed envelope, I'll mail you a formula for one which I know is good and which will not cost much to have filled. Also, when you shampoo your hair—you should do it only every three weeks—beat up an egg and rub into the scalp and let it sit on the head for five minutes, then wash off with soap and water. The crust this forms on the scalp takes up all the dandruff and brings it away with it. Massage the scalp too, with the finger tips. It will stimulate the circulation and help strengthen the hair.

Phoney Hero Admits He Lied Like a Gas Meter

Bridgeport, Conn., July 22.—"Sergeant" Henry Johnson, the self-styled negro hero who has been thrilling negro audiences for the past week with his story of how he won the Croix de Guerre, was arrested here recently and arraigned as a deserter from the army.

"All of the hero stuff for life," Johnson said to the judge. "I ain't no hero, and when I said I was I was like a gas meter."

TRAVELETTE

THE GOSFORTH CROSS.

TWO and one-half miles from Rosambla, on the northwest coast of England, within easy reach of the lake district, are found remarkable traces of prehistoric man, exceptionally fine Roman remains and relics of history dating back to the Christianized Viking church.

Furness abbey is one of the eighth. So is the 10 century old Anglican cross at Ibsen. But the finest of all is the Gosforth cross, erected probably about 900 A. D. or even before. It is in the tiny churchyard, bearing the same name, and is rich in the blending of Norse mythology and Christianity as shown by the symbols carved upon its surface. The base is in triple twisted, typical of the Trinity. The entire moonlight is covered with legendary characters, good and evil. That good is triumphant is represented by the triangular emblem of the three-in-one, which forms the graceful cross head.

Within the tiny church are the fishing stone, cross, unearthed in 1842, and all that remains of a third cross, which probably stood at the foot of the grave of some Norse chieftain, who had been converted to the Christian religion.

The tourist sun dial just outside the church was set up on the ruins of still another cross, which also bears evidence of the newly converted Norseman of ancient times.

THE WAY OF A MAID.

FLAVIA TWEET, beautiful and much sought after, spread the five photographs of her would-be husbands on her dressing table of Gymnasium walnut.

"I simply must make a decision," she thought. "Time flies. I am 22 years old today—not old, but a year from today I'll be 23, and a year from that 24, and a year from that 25, and so on. Very well, then, I must choose."

"Well, there is Angus Strongheart, rich, handsome, good-looking, and ready to pour his father's fortune at my feet.

"Second, Cecil Sidings—good-looking, rich, handsome, dresses like a scoundrel, collar advertisement and kisses divinely.

"Third, Scandran Tibbs—very rich and very very old. He would probably die in a year or two of pulmonary carcinoma, and then I'd be a beautiful wealthy widow—and making money was my most becoming shade of black.

"Fifth, Dick Shuttles—oh, I can't sleep nights for thinking of the little curly lock on the side of his forehead. I don't care if he is penniless, left-handed, feeble-minded and flat-footed, I'm going to accept him tomorrow."

After Hiding For Year, Deserter Asks To Be Sent To Fight

Montrose, Colo., July 22.—After hiding in the mountains for more than a year in the hope of escaping military service, Orley Garber has surrendered himself to federal officers and asked for the privilege of fighting against Germany.

Garber, who is 25, had dwelt alone among the peaks of the San Juan range of the Rockies. On his first venture back to civilization he picked up a newspaper containing an account of submarine raids off the coast of New Jersey. He rushed to a recruiting office and surrendered with a demand that he be sent at once to fight the war.

As Garber had been posted as a deserter, he is now held in Montrose county jail, awaiting action of the government.

Old Dobbin Holds Own Against "Devil Wagons"

Washington, D. C., July 22.—The good old fire horse is holding his own against the "devil wagons." Of 219 cities investigated by the department, according to the report made public today, for the fiscal year of 1917, says the report, there were 751 horses employed in the fire departments of the 219 cities, as compared with 10,777 in 1905.

The report shows that for 1917 there were 256 paid fire department companies, with 40,121 employees, and 362 volunteer companies, with 14,472 active members. The total value of fire department property is $111,297,291, and the total property loss by fire for 1917 was $7,154,176.

New York, the report shows, has more firemen than any other city in the nation. Its department has 1,220 of its 216 engines being motor propelled.

HOROSCOPE

Tuesday, July 23, 1918.

ASTROLOGERS read this as an unfortunate day, since Saturn and the Sun are both in evil place.

It is a most unlucky day for seeking favors of any sort whether they be social, commercial or official.

The signs are forbidding for politicians or for any one who solicits public approval. Actors and musicians have a sinister sign.

Mines again come under a way making for trouble. Labor difficulties may multiply.

The planetary away seems to indicate that labor questions will be more than ever prominent in national affairs in the next few months. Legislation, newspaper discussions, splits in organizations and widespread uprisings are foretold.

The stars that seem to presage general trouble among workers also forecast changes in the department of labor, new duties for old officials and old duties for new officials.

The violent death or murder of a prominent man is foretold. The next few weeks may be marked by increase of crime.

The Sun is in an aspect exceedingly threatening for persons in high place. The government of the stars apparently encourages criticism of men, evil reports and widespread discontent due to jealousy.

Problems concerning civil service, salaries, the police and many public servants, high and low will multiply. Events that are supposed to indicate the approach of peace, negotiations, are postponed for next month. A new treaty of great significance is foreboded.

Increases in prosperity for the country at large is foretold. The west will be particularly fortunate.

The fact that the planet Jupiter is close to the parallel of the radical Moon in the horoscope of the president of France is interpreted as one of the signs of victory and peace, which will come suddenly.

Persons whose birthdays it is may have an anxious time. They should start a new enterprise.

Children born on this day may be proud and dominating. These subjects of Cancer should be taught to be tactful as they generally antagonize. Copyright, 1918, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.
